Russian Report Says Loss To Mikado is Heavy.

Decline in Bonds Causes Several Failures in Europe.

State Department Receives Advices That Japan And Korea Have Concluded a Treaty--Big War Loan Concluded--Report of De- posing of Korean Emperor Ac- cepted as a Fact.

PARIS, FEB. 24.—(Bulletin)—An OFFICIAL TELEGRAM RECEIVED IN ST. PETERSBURG TODAY ANNOUNCES THE DEFEAT OF THE JAPANESE WITH SERIOUS LOSS AT PORT ARTHUR.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—(Bulletin)—A Russian report has just reached here that four Japanese battleships and two transports have been sunk in an engagement off Port Arthur. News of the battle at Port Arthur comes from St. Petersburg. The dispatch adds that the Japanese attack was repulsed by the Russians, and that the Russian battleship, Retvisan, covered itself with glory.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—A dispatch from Chifu, China, to the Evening News today declares that the Russian consul there confirms the statement that four Japanese warships have been destroyed at Port Arthur. The fight occurred early on the morning of February 23.

FIGHTING BEGAN AT MIDNIGHT.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The Russian consul declares that the Japanese fleet began the attack after midnight on February 23. Passengers arriving from Chin Wang Tao, say that a continuous firing was heard off Port Arthur between 1 and 4 o'clock on the morning of the 23rd. There was no moon and the conditions were ripe for a surprise. They declare that undoubtedly the Japanese were trying to steal through the entrance to the harbor and that they were discovered and defeated.

JAPAN-KOREAN TREATY.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The State department received advices this morning that Japan and Korea have just concluded the negotiation of a treaty guaranteeing to Korea her independence and integrity. It is supposed that under the terms of the treaty Japan is allowed to occupy the country temporarily with troops, with the understanding that at the conclusion of the war with Russia they will be withdrawn.

DECLINE IN BONDS CAUSED FAILURES.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—The severe depression in European government securities was again reflected in the number of failures in the leading capitals today. Three failures were reported from Paris, due to the decline in Russian bonds. The failure of Fraukel & Company, and Paul Rosenberg were announced on the Berlin bourse today, while the banking house of Rosseau in Vienna, also closed its doors. A failure was also announced in Lyons, France.

JAPS OUTNUMBER RUSSIANS IN EAST.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—No startling developments from the scene of hostilities in the far East has reached London up to late this afternoon. The meagre news that came told only of continued preparations for the great land battle near the bank of the Yalu river in Korea.

A military man whose business it is to know at any cost and by any means what is transpiring said today that when the fight came it will be found that the Japanese slightly outnumbered the Russians. He figured that about 150,000 Russians and 150,000 Japanese would be engaged. This is only another example of Russian unpreparedness, as the Russians were supposed to have at least 50,000 more men available for a speedy campaign in Korea.

The report of the deposing of the Korean emperor, Yi Hyeung, may be accepted as a fact. Some days ago the Japanese government sent a prince of the imperial house to Seoul as an "advisor" to the Korean government. No one in diplomatic circles had any doubt as to what that meant or what would happen to the weak emperor of Korea.

JAPAN'S WAR LOAN.

Tokio, Feb. 24.—(Bulletin)—The Japanese war loan of 100,000,000 yen has been covered nearly four times over.

PROTECTORATE OVER KOREA.

London, Feb. 24.—The correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company at Paris wires that it is reported today that Japan has proclaimed a protectorate over Korea.

SENTIMENT OF EUROPE.

London, Feb. 24.—T. reugi correspondents in every quarter of Europe the Scripps-McRae Press Association has learned that continental Europe, with the exception of Greece, is pro-Russian. Germany, France and Austria are undisguised in the sentiments. Italy is only lukewarm, but does not favor Japan. The Vatican will give its moral support to the Christians against a Buddha nation, and in England, outside of official circles, many sympathize with Russia.

TROOPS TO INDIA.

Manchester, Feb. 24.—The Dispatch says that a rumor is current among the military officials, which is generally believed, that orders have been quietly given to the First British army corps to hold itself in readiness for departure to India within a few days.

TOLSTOI'S SYMPATHY.

Philadelphia, Feb. 24.—Count Leo Tolstoi, the "Great Commoner" of BATTLESHIP MIKASA. BATTLESHIP HATSE. ARMORED CRUISER IWATE.

THREE OF JAPAN'S BEST WARSHIPS.

Russia, in reply to an inquiry from the North American, regarding his position in the conflict between Russia and Japan, says:

"I am neither for Russia nor Japan, but for laboring people of both, deceived by governments and obliged to fight against their welfare conscience and religion."

SQUADRON SAILS NORTH

Nagasaki, Feb. 24.—A formidable flying squadron containing swift Japanese battleship Hatsuse is on its way to Vladivostok with the object of attacking that strong Russian center.

The next great battle on the water between the warring nations is expected to be in the Japan sea off the northern coast of Korea or near Vladivostok.

BULGARIANS ORDER ARMS.

Berlin, Feb. 24.—The conviction of the German government that war between Bulgaria and Turkey is within measurable possibility increases. The war in the far east, it is asserted, has changed the temper of the Turks from acquiescence in the reform plans of the powers for Macedonia to positive intractability. The Bulgarian government, four days after the outbreak of the war, placed an order with Loewe & Company, the Mauser rifle and cartridge makers of Berlin, which order was doubled Friday list, and Loewe & Company, as usual with the German arms makers, notified the German government.

HIGH OFFICERS EXECUTED.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 24.—The Japanese who were hanged by Russians in Manchuria for attempting to blow up the railroad bridge over the Sangay river were disguised as coolies. They were arrested just as they were about to make the attempt. Inquiry revealed the fact that they were Japanese officers of the general staff, namely Colonel Asai of the Engineers, and Lieuts. Zenelias et al and Kacurta of the sappers. They were at once hanged from the girders of the bridge.

ON LAND AND SEA

Fighting Has Been Going On According to London Reports.

London, Feb. 24.—Cabling from Chifu on February 23, a correspondent of the Morning Post says 10,000 more Japanese troops have landed at Chemulpo, and that he has received confirmation of the report that some Japanese have landed at Pigen Bay, others at Taikwan, and that an engagement occurred on the night of February 12.

According to the Standard's correspondent at Seoul the Japanese bombarded Port Arthur at intervals between the 5th and 14th of February, causing only slight damage.

Special dispatches from St. Petersburg give various sensational reports of a political nature.

The Telegraph for instance, says the Russian government has ordered its Ambassador at Constantinople to obtain the permission of the Porte for the exit of the Black Sea fleets, but M. Ziohoff, the ambassador, declined to make this request and was able to give the Russian foreign office conclusive reasons for his refusal.

CZAR'S ADDRESS.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 24.—The Czar, replying to an address expressing loyalty to him today, said that such expressions as these coming as they were from all parts of Russia, acted as a great consolation to him in his time of trouble. He said:

"With God's help and convinced of the right of our cause, I am persuaded that the army and fleet will do all that is due to the valiant arms of Russia and will maintain the honor and glory of the empire."

JAPS AT CHEMULPO.

London, Feb. 24.—A dispatch from Seoul today states that between thirty and forty thousand Japanese have been landed at Chemulpo and that many of these have been advanced toward Pin-Yang which is being fortified.

The dispatch adds that the Russians have established their base at Wiju on the Yalu river and are stationing small detachments along the road from that place to An-lu, about 30 miles from Ping-Yang.

ADRIFT AT SEA

New York, Feb. 24.—Drifting hopelessly somewhere off the coasts of Delaware or else already driven ashore and wrecked, are two big coal barges, with seven men aboard.

They are the West Point and General Knox and were cut loose at the tow of the seagoing tug Walter Luckenbach by a passing steamer during a heavy fog.

The big ocean-going tug M. E. Luckenbach started from here yesterday morning, coal and provisioned for a long cruise if necessary in search of the barges.

STRIKE

Of the Soft Coal Miners of Ohio and Indiana Inevitable Says President Ziegler.

New York, Feb. 24.—(Bulletin)—President Ziegler of the Columbus and Hocking company, who has just returned from Ohio, says he believes that a strike of miners of the soft coal fields of Ohio, Indiana and the middle west is inevitable.

Rockefeller to Help.

Baltimore, Md. Feb. 24.—It is reported here that John D. Rockefeller has decided to come to the relief of the Johns Hopkins hospital, which suffered the loss of nearly $1,500,000 in well paying property by the recent fire, by contributing to the endowment an amount equal to the loss.

RESOLUTION

To Inquire Into Report That Free Speech is Denied in the Philippine Islands

Washington, Feb. 24.—Representative Williams of Mississippi, Democratic floor leader, has taken cognizance of the charges that the Philippine press is practically under United States censorship. He introduced a resolution in the house today calling on the secretary of war for information as to whether, and if so to what extent, the right of free speech has been denied in the Philippines since the cessation of hostilities.

PICTURE

Of the Late Senator Hanna May be Engraved on the Panama Construction Bonds.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Senator Hanna's picture will probably be engraved on the Panama construction bonds, which will be issued shortly by the treasury department. It is held that this would be only a fitting tribute to the memory of the man who devoted much of the last years of his life to the furthering of canal legislation.

ELMER DOVER

Will Act as Secretary of the Republican National Committee Till Convention Time.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Elmer Dover, assistant secretary of the Republican National committee, has consented to act as secretary of the committee, until its meeting, just previous to the convention in the place of Perry Heath, resigned.

Kaiser's Condition.

London, Feb. 24.—The Manchester Dispatch again refers to the health of Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany today and says it is stated at a most distinguished house in the West End that the worst news may be heard any day. The paper adds: "Sincere hope is expressed everywhere that the rumors on the subject will prove erroneous but unhappily there is little ground for the hope."

A Brockport Fire.

Brockport, N. Y. Feb. 24.—Fire this morning did about $100,000 damage in the heart of the business district of the village. The fire began in the plant of the M. S. Phelps piano case manufacturing company, and spread from there to the building across the street, occupied by Moore's subscription agency. The loss on the piano case factory, tall destroyed, is in the neighborhood of $80,000. The loss on the other building and contents, mostly damaged by water, is perhaps $20,000.

THE CANAL TREATY

Having Been Ratified the United States Will Now Proceed to Dig the Big Ditch Which Will Unite the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans.

Washington, Feb. 24.—The United States Senate, as forecasted in these dispatches, ratified without amendment the treaty with Panama for a canal across the isthmus of that name by a vote of 66 to 14. The result was a foregone conclusion.

Fourteen Democrats voted for ratification and 14 against.

Two Democrats, Clark of Montana, and Stone of Missouri, were paired in favor of the treaty, and three Democrats, Overman, McLaurin and Martin, were paired against it, so in the total vote 16 Democrats were for the treaty and 17 against it.

The Democrats who voted for the treaty were: Bacon, Cockrell, Foster of Louisiana, Gibson, Latimer, McCreary, McEnery, Mallory, Money, Simons and Talliaferro.

The only other vote was on the amendment offered by Senator Bacon, providing for an arrangement to compensate Colombia for loss of the territory of Panama. This was rejected by a vote of 24 to 49. It was a party vote on the affirmative side and also on the negative side with the exception of Mr. Gibson and Mr. McEnery, Democrats, who voted with the Republicans.

READY FOR CONSUMMATION.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Everything is ready for the speedy consummation of the Panama canal treaty, and both the war and state departments have made preparations for the next step, the former by the dispatch of troops to the isthmus and the latter by the completion of arrangements for the exchange of ratifications of the treaty. There is no reason why this ceremony should not occur within the next 48 hours.

M. Bunau Varilla, the minister from Panama, soon after he has made the exchange of treaties, will lay down his mission. His successor will be Pablo Arcasmena, the present head of the constitutional convention.

The administration intends to press the canal project by all proper methods. As a cabinet officer expressed it, the next step after the appointment of the commission will be "scratch dirt."

WILL PROTECT CANAL WORKS.

Washington, February 24.—Senator Kittredge of South Dakota, a member of the interoceanic canal committee, after the ratification of the treaty introduced a bill to provide for the temporary government of the Panama canal territory and for protection of the canal works and for other purposes connected with the construction of the canal.

The bill was referred to the committee of interoceanic canals, of which the late Senator Hanna was chairman. The filling of the vacancy has caused considerable discussion and it virtually has been decided to leave it unfilled for the present.

Senator Platt of New York will be the acting chairman.

SPRING ELECTIONS

To be Abolished by Republican Bosses at Columbus --A Great Privilege to be Taken Away from the People Without Giving Them Chance to be Heard.

Columbus, O., Feb. 24.—The Republican scheme to abolish spring elections is now being pushed by the party leaders with vigor and perseverance. For nearly a century the people of Ohio have gone to the polls every spring and made choice by the ballot of their township and municipal officers. All this time the people have been eminently satisfied and contented with the system, because it enabled them to make choice of the best men for all such offices, regardless of party influences, and because any official chosen to fill these local positions could be held to a strict accountability for the faithful performance of his duties. If any such official would be derelict in any way or prove unsatisfactory he would be promptly turned down at the next election. For this reason Spring elections have been popular with the great mass of the people. But all this is to be changed by the party bosses now in control of the Republican machine. And the change is to be made suddenly without giving the people of the State any opportunity to be heard on the subject. The question of Spring elections has not been made an issue before the people. It has not been discussed before the voters either on the stump or in the public press. The people have had no chance to give expression to their views and no means have been afforded to obtain public sentiment on such a vital question.

The Republican bosses have simply held secret conferences and decided to abolish Spring elections regardless of what the people may think about it or even giving them a chance to have any voice in such a radical change in their local government.

PASSENGERS ON PASSES

Have no Claim Against Railway Companies for Damages--United States Supreme Court Settles Question in the Adams Case.

Washington, Feb. 24.—The question as to whether a passenger on a railroad train, riding on a free pass, who loses his life on account of an act of carelessness on the part of the railroad company stands on the same footing as that passenger who pays his fare, has been decided, by the United States Supreme court against the free passenger.

The case in which the opinion was rendered was that of the Northern Pacific railway company vs. Louis H. Adams and Frank H. Adams, heirs of Jay H. Adams, an attorney at law of Spokane, Wash., in 1885. Mr. Adams was riding on a pass which contained a stipulation exempting the railroad company from liability in the case of accident.

The federal circuit court for the district of Washington state awarded damages to the extent of $14,000 and the circuit court of appeals for the Ninth circuit affirmed this judgment.

The opinion of the supreme court was handed down by Justice Brewer and reversed the lower courts. The supreme court held that there could be no higher measure of duty to the heirs than to Adams himself, and that there is nothing in public policy to prevent a contract between a common carrier and a free passenger exempting the carrier from liability in case of accident. The company, it is said, waived its right to exact compensation from Adams. He was not in the power of the company and obliged to accept its terms.

CANAL BILL

SUBSTITUTE FOR ELECTRIC MULE MEASURE.

The Perpetual Lease Provision Has Been Changed to a Thirty Year Renewable.

Columbus, O., Feb. 24.—Holmes Johnson presented to the house committee on public works a substitute for his "electric mule" canal bill and asked that all hearings be given with a view to accepting this as a substitute.

The canal commission shall fix the rental for the first 20 years. The 99 year lease renewable forever is cut out. Subsequent terms of 30 years each are contemplated. For these subsequent terms the value is to be fixed by a board appointed by the governor, to be approved by the Senate. At the end of any term the legislature may rescind the contract, without incurring any liability to the grantee. At such time the value of the property of the grantee to be taken over by the state is to be fixed by a commission, of one appointed by the governor, one by the grantee and the third by these two.

It is provided that the grantee shall not interfere with the investigation of the canal. No trucks are to be laid except those plans for which have already been filed with the state board of public works and present grades can only be changed with the consent of the state board. Where the tow path has been interfered with the grantee must provide a new tow path. Nothing in the act to interfere with any vested rights along the canal route. This includes water power, pipe permits, etc.

GOVERNOR

Thinks Dick Will Have Practically the Unanimous Vote for United States Senator.

Columbus, Feb. 24.—Governor Herrick was asked today: "Are you for General Dick for United States Senator?" He answered the question in this way: "As I viewed the situation in Cleveland, there were but two men that the legislature would likely select as the successor to Senator Hanna. One was General Dick and the other was myself. This conclusion was reached on the assumption that the minds of the members of the Legislature were practically made up on the Senatorship. I stated my reason for not entering the contest at this time. I then believed that General Dick would be elected. I now see no reason to think that he will not have practically a unanimous vote."

BEDFORD MYSTERY

Bedford, Ind., Feb. 24.—The wisp of reddish brown hair found tightly clasped in the stiffened fingers of Sarah Schaefer may yet lead to the detection of the man whose blows crushed out her life.

Last night detectives and officials were carefully retracing their steps. They intend to start afresh, with new clues placed in their possession. They hope yet to bring the girl's murderer to justice. Mrs. Nettie Hugelwald a Terre Haute woman who was closeted with detectives during the day, refused to discuss the subject of the investigation in any manner. She says she has already notified the detectives that she possessed information regarding the mysterious stranger who took lodging in the Park hotel the night of the murder, and who abruptly left the following morning failing to pay his bill.

Mrs. Hugelwald claims the man is a piano tuner and gave his name. Now the Pinkertons will direct their energies to apprehend the individual.

Of Train Dispatcher of Buckeye Lake Interurban Over Real Estate Company's Offices.

Superintendent of Transportation F. A. Boutelle and Train Dispatcher F. J. Moore of the Columbus, Buckeye Lake and Newark lines, have just moved into new offices which have been fitted up in the room above the Newark Real Estate company's room on the North Side, which were formerly occupied by Hooper Franklin's insurance agency.

Mr. Moore formerly had his office in the front of the interurban waiting room. His new quarters are much more convenient and removed from the noise and confusion incident to the former location.

Every train on the C. B. L. & N. and Newark & Granville roads is run from this office by Mr. Moore, who had 16 years of experience as a train dispatcher with the B. & O.

Mr. Boutelle will also find this new office much more congenial in its surroundings and better adapted by size, than was the case in the old quarters.

INJUNCTION

That Has Brought Consternation to the Labor Unions of the City of Chicago.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—In answer to the appeal of the Dearborn Duster company, Judge Holden, in the county court today issued a far reaching injunction against the striking employees of the company whose present employees have been frequently attacked by pickets of the feather duster makers' union. The injunction restrains the strikers or others from picketing or congregating in the vicinity of the factory, inflicting injury, using the term "scab" or other threatening or intimidating language or speaking to employees of the company against their will.

The injunction is the most sweeping ever issued in Chicago and has brought consternation to the ranks of labor unions.

SELECTIONS

THE SHETLAND PONY.

Runs Wild in His Early Days—A Devoted Friend of Man.

When at home the pony is still left very much to himself and during his earlier years runs wild. But he is easily reformed and speedily becomes his wild and odd ways and becomes a devoted friend of man and an admirable worker. So great is their affection for the ponies that the islanders never kill them, but when they are too old for work they allow them to return to the fields and hills and live out the rest of their days in peace. Sometimes the old animals in their wanderings for food will fall over the cliffs and perish. They still reach the age of thirty years or more in their native land, and there is a case on record, but it is probably apocryphal, of a sheltie which lived to be a hundred years old.

Like every other good thing for which a demand has arisen, the prices of shelties have increased in recent years. There has been for a considerable period a large export trade in the ponies, of which there were at one time 10,000 in the islands; but, according to government returns, the number is now about half. In the eighteenth century it was possible to obtain a good sheltie for about $12, and the average price in 1809 was $3 more. Half a century ago a pony could be bought for from $7 to $20, but in 1871 males ranged from $40 to $50, the mares fetching only half that sum, as they were not suitable for pit work, for which the shelties were mostly needed. Since then prices have greatly advanced, and large sums are obtained for choice specimens of the pony, especially when they are wanted for children's use. A yearling will now command from $50 upward.

The sheltie cannot be worked until it is three or four years old and does not reach maturity until it is aged eight or nine years.—Illustrated Sporting News.

Former Senator John P. Jones of Nevada is looking in splendid health and in his alert step and mental buoyancy seems a bold defier of Father Time. He has a magnificent estate at Santa Monica, on the California coast, and his handsome home at the summit of a high bluff overlooks a wide expanse of sea. He expects to divide the residue of his days about equally between the coast, New York and Washington.

"It was not so much that I had grown weary of public life as that it was impossible for me to attend to my private business and at the same time do justice to my constituents," said the senator in answer to a friend who wondered why he should have quit the senate when it was so easy for him to remain there as long as he wished. "I am now tied up in mining operations," he continued, "that reach from Alaska to Mexico, and all my time is fully occupied."—Washington Post.

The French Deputy's Perquisites.

A French deputy receives a salary of 9,000 francs. He also receives free railway transportation and free luncheons at the bar of the Palais Bourbon, where many a lawmaker spends more time than he does in the Salle des Seances. Some are accused of taking all their meals at the free lunch counter. A deputy even gets at reduced rates a special brand of cigar which is called "cigare de deputes." With these cigars he treats his influential constituents. In spite of all these privileges there have been many complaints that unless he has a large personal income a deputy cannot live decently. Therefore many members of parliament when they are not well to do have to make up for the insufficiency of their pay by contributing to newspapers or pleading in the courts.—Century.

Denmark Is Short of Surnames.

Denmark suffers from a quite medieval paucity of surnames, and so inconvenient is this fact becoming that the government has announced its intention of presenting a bill to the legislature sanctioning and encouraging the adoption of new surnames. Such names as Hansen, Petersen and Sverensen are overwhelmingly frequent. It is even said that there are towns of 30,000 inhabitants among whom there will not be found more than twenty different surnames, as many as a thousand different people having the same surname. In these days of records and various registrations, to say nothing of business relations, the comedies of error arising from such a state of things must be numerous.—London Globe.

Russian Designs on Norway.

It becomes more and more evident that the award of the Nobel prize for literature to the Norwegian poet Bjornstjerne Bjornson was a political act by which it was intended to bring about a reconciliation in political matters between the poet and King Oscar. The two men have overcome their mutual unfriendliness on the subject of the separation of the northeastern part of Norway, which is now generally regarded as lost to the crown of Sweden. Since as it may appear, the Russian secret agitation has made great headway among the fishing population of that region.

Salaries of Chefs.

A skillful cook commands a higher salary in New York than the average clerkman or college professor. At present French cooking is most in demand. The professional cooks are divided into two classes—chefs and second chefs. The chefs receive salaries varying from $3,000 to $12,000 a year. The second chefs receive from $1,000 to $1,500.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

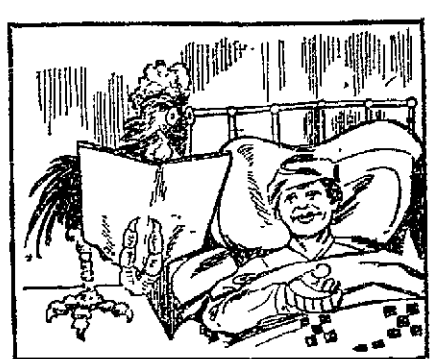

The Rooster's Advice

Tommy was in trouble. Tommy was also in bed, for his trouble was a broken wrist, brought on by hitting the ground too hard when he fell out of the apple tree. He was lying on his white pillow and dreaming of the good times the boys were having outside when the door opened, and to his great amusement in walked Jack, the old rooster. He was carrying a big book under his wing, and he came straight for the bed. Tommy felt like crying out with mingled fear and surprise as he saw Jack hop up on the table beside him, but his voice seemed to be stuck somewhere down in his stomach. Jack said nothing, but pulled a big pair of spectacles from beneath his other wing and opened a large book of notes. Tommy's eyes bulged.

"What are you going to do?" he asked timidly.

"Going to read you a few helpful rules for climbing trees. Some from my own valuable experience," said Jack, winking one eye and turning the pages with his claws. "If you will climb trees, you should know how to do it."

"This certainly is queer," thought

TOMMY FELT LIKE CRYING.

Tommy. "The idea of a rooster teaching me!"

"Let us see," said the rooster, reading. "Birds of a feather flock—no, that's not it.

"In cases of pip be sure to—"

"Ah! Here it is—Trees; flying up into."

Jack looked so wise that Tommy couldn't keep back a smile.

"Rule 1.—Squat firmly on both claws."

"But I have no claws," interrupted Tom.

"That's so," Jack assented. "We'll try again.

"Rule 2.—Then spread your wings out wide."

"But I have no wings," said Tommy. "That's very true," said Jack, putting his head first on one side and then on the other. "I hadn't thought of that."

"Rule 3.—Then hold your tail out straight."

Here Tommy burst out laughing. "I never had any tail," he giggled. Jack scratched his comb and thought for a moment. "I have it," he cried.

"Rule 999.—Men and boys that have no claws, wings or tail should never climb trees."

"That meets your case, Tommy. Take my advice and don't," saying which he jumped to the floor and vanished.

Tommy rubbed his eyes.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Bullfrog and the Crow

The bullfrog loved the Widow Crow, But wasn't fond of black. And said: "I'll never marry you, For taste in dress you lack."

"If you were like the robin red Or like the jay bird blue, I'd say, 'My dear, come fly with me And be my sweetheart true.'"

"YOU NEED NOT FRET," THE CROW REPLIED.

"You need not fret," the crow replied: "I'd never marry thee. While true you have a greenback rare, I cannot spend it, see?"

"I'm looking for a man with gold, Who has it in a pack. And not a brawling bullfrog bold With greenbacks on his back."

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

There will be a golden gleam to all the trimmings of the coming season.

In the newest fur trimmings ermine is ingeniously combined with darker furs.

Brittany embroidery adorns some of the collar and cuff sets so much in vogue.

Dark blue and red spangled tulle and mousseline are used for party gowns.

For spring and summer the waist of Persian lawn will take precedence in the cotton group.

USEFUL SPRING WRINKLES.

To Lay That Refractory New Carpet Smoothly and With a Calm Spirit.

The secret of carpet laying is simple, but it is all the more worth passing on for the benefit of other homemakers. All depends on the order in which the different sides of the carpet are tacked. First, tack across the end of the room, across the end of the breadths of carpet—mind, not along their length. Tack this end firmly and rather closely; then take the opposite end, leaving the two sides loose until the end has been stretched tightly and tacked in place. By taking the opposite end for the second row of tacks one can pull the carpet true, while the average carpet put down by inexperienced hands and tacked along one end and then down the side is very apt to be pulled askew. The two ends fastened, the carpet is true to the room, and the work of tacking the sides is soon accomplished. These do not require tacking as closely as the ends except in front of doors.

Another notion which may have some value to the younger housewives is this: If the old fashioned rag carpet is used in kitchen or dining room—and there is nothing which will stand hard wear better—do not have it sewed. The breadths laid in place and slightly lapped will stay in place fairly well, and they can be lifted and cleaned so much more easily that it is worth while to leave them loose. When cleaned, each breadth should be pinned firmly on a clothesline, with clothespins at frequent intervals. Whip the lower edge of the breadth thoroughly and then unpinned and hang it up by the other edge and whip again. In this way a rag carpet too heavy to be well cleaned at home can be handled and, got even cleaner than is done by the carpet cleaning establishments, even by a woman who has no masculine arm to assist her.—Amelia H. Botsford in Ladies' World.

Old English Silver Door Knobs.

In one of the largest houses in New York all the door knobs are made of old English silver. They are round and carved in old fashioned designs. They are something entirely new and one of the latest fads in interior decoration, according to an exchange. The knobs are small and well shaped. This sounds like a most expensive fad, but silver is cheap, and as the knobs need not be solid they could be copied at a small cost. Glass knobs have long been the rage. They are usually of fine cut glass and are most attractive. Large lamps made of this same old silver are often seen this winter. They have large silver transparent shades lined with silk that are really something new.

Good Polishing Preparations.

A good polish for brass, nickel plate and pewter can be procured of a drug-gist under the name of tripoli. It is an exceedingly fine powder made from small shells and is sold for a few cents per pound. Moistened with sweet oil, it is used like whiting upon silver. With these two simple materials, whitening and tripoli, on hand the housekeeper will have no necessity for special preparations. Tripoli is the best cleansing material for brass bedsteads, andirons and fireplace fittings, as well as for exposed plumbing and for bronzes.

Oyster Cocktails.

Remove the round muscle from thirty small oysters, rinse and drain them and set in the icebox until chilled. Mix together one teaspoonful and a half of freshly grated horseradish, three scant tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, one tablespoonful of vinegar, one tablespoonful and a half of Worcestershire, four teaspoonfuls of tomato catsup and two-thirds of a teaspoonful of salt. Add the oysters and divide among six glasses.—Table Talk.

Lemon Tea.

Into a small cupful of freshly steeped black tea drop a thin slice of lemon peel and pulp, but no seeds. The tea may be taken plain or sweetened with sugar, but of course no milk is to be used. This is the popular Russian beverage.

The New Lingerie.

Airy nainsook and fine, long cloth underwear is made beautiful with any amount of flouncings, tucks, lace insertions and frills. The newest camisoles have sleeve straps that tie on the shoulder with pretty ribbons. Besides the lace trimmed lingerie the new 1904 models comprise the latest French fashion of embroidered underlinen. This embroidery, sometimes carried out in openwork with buttonhole edge and also in satin stitch, has an excessive quaintness and delicacy, especially as applied to chemises and camisoles, of which the necks and sleeve straps have scalloped edges outlined in deep satin stitch.

WINTER IS COMING BRINGING CATARRH

Every Catarrh sufferer dreads the coming of winter, for with the first breath of the "ice-king" this miserable disease is fanned into life and all the disgusting symptoms return. The nostrils are stopped up and the throat can be kept clear of mucous secretions only by continual hawking and spitting. Catarrh is a nuisance and source of annoyance, not only to the one who has it, but everybody else. The thick, yellow discharge from the head produces a feeling of personal defilement, and the odor of the breath is almost intolerable. The catarrhal poison brings on stomach troubles and affects the kidneys and bladder. It attacks the soft bones and tissues of the head and throat, causing total or partial deafness, the loss of smell, and giving to the voice a rasping, nasal twang. No part of the body is secure from its ravages. Catarrh makes you sick all over, for it is a disease of the blood, and circulates all through the system, and for this reason, sprays, washes, inhalers, powders and salves have proven failures.

The way to cure Catarrh thoroughly and permanently is to cleanse the blood of the unhealthy secretions that keep the membranes of the body inflamed, and nothing does this so surely and promptly as S. S. S. As long as the blood is poisoned with Catarrhal matter the discharge of mucus and other disgusting symptoms of the miserable disease will continue. S. S. S. goes to the fountain source of the trouble and purifies and enriches the blood, and so invigorates and tones up the system that catching cold and contracting Catarrh is not so likely to occur. Keep the blood in order and winter's coming brings none of the discomforts of Catarrh. Write us particulars of your case, and let our physicians help you get rid of this blood-tainting and stubborn disease. We make no charge whatever for medical advice.

A FEEDER

TO ELECTRIC ROAD IS BUCKEYE LAKE PARK.

Amusements Intended to Please the Public Not to Make Money for Company—The Privilege.

Manager Will D. Harris of Buckeye Lake Park, was seen this morning by an Advocate reporter, who had an interesting chat with the well known and popular park manager. In speaking of the amusements at Buckeye Lake during the coming season, Mr. Harris picked up an Advocate of Tuesday and turned to the article saying the amusement privilege had been let to G. W. Keller of Wooster.

"That should be explained," he said. "The only privilege that is covered by Mr. Keller's contract is the merry-go-round, while Mr. Harry Marple has been sold the privilege covering the billiard hall, penny slot machines, etc. As far as all other amusements are concerned they will be under the control of the Park management. I wish the people to distinctly understand that Buckeye Lake Park this season, will be conducted primarily as a feeder for the railroad. The amusements there will be furnished by the park management, not with a view to making money for the park, but to please the public and at reasonable prices. I would under no circumstances lease the general amusement privilege to an individual, who would of course, conduct it for his personal profit. Buckeye park is supposed to pay for itself, but not to be a money maker. It is simply to be a feeder for the electric road, and a place for people to go to spend a pleasant time."

If Foraker had only been able to work his old fire alarm racket on the Republicans he might have saved himself from being so ignominiously and ruthlessly ignored and turned down by the party bosses who met at Hanna's funeral.

As long as this country is on a grasping campaign and before its hands have lost their cunning in the delicate game of grab-what-you-want, there is no reason why it should not take hold of the Dominican affair, and, if necessary, appropriate the island. That old motto, "The more the merrier," still holds good, and with the war in the Philippines still going on in a more or less desultory manner, the Porto Ricans demanding either state rights or independence, the prospect of getting into a conflict with the great Powers over China; why not go after San Domingo and its voodooism? The black republic would make a novel addition to our curious collection of undesirable adjuncts.

Confession of Weakness in the Republican Party.

The Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune took a strong position in opposition to the nomination of Roosevelt and in favor of Hanna immediately following the Ohio election of last fall. The paper actually flourished aloft the standard of revolt against Roosevelt. But the death of Hanna compels it to take a resigned but despondent view of the situation.

Whether the Commercial Tribune's persistent and extended assaults upon President Roosevelt had the sanction of Hanna is not known. Indeed, this consideration cuts no important figure in the case. The fact of value is that a newspaper of its standing in the Republican party should openly and violently oppose the nomination of Roosevelt on the broad ground of its belief that his nomination would mean crushing defeat. Now that Hanna is dead, the Commercial-Tribune takes a still more gloomy view of the Republican outlook. "The party has sustained an irreparable loss," is its declaration in commenting upon the political effect of Hanna's death. Then it goes on to say that if he had lived and declined to be the nominee his potent influence would have strengthened a weaker candidate, and his powers of organization and his great reserves of political wisdom would have been loyally devoted to the success of the party and the party's choice. Going further into detail, this organ of Republicanism says that with both McKinley and Hanna gone the party dangers are coming thick and fast.

With a tone of despair the Commercial-Tribune inquires: "New York and Indiana, New Jersey and Connecticut, Illinois and Colorado, all important, absolutely essential, and who so strong, so powerful to hold these for the party's nominee as the man who has just passed away?" It reaches the climax of its racking

Spring Medicine

There is no other season when good medicine is so much needed as in the Spring.

The blood is impure, weak and impoverished—a condition indicated by pimples and other eruptions on the face and body, by deficient vitality, loss of appetite, lack of strength, and want of animation.

Make the blood pure, vigorous and rich, create appetite, give vitality, strength and animation, and cure all eruptions. Have the whole family begin to take them today.

Hood's Sarsaparilla has been used in our family for some time, and always with good results. Last spring I was all run down and got a bottle of it, and as usual received great benefit. Miss ELEANOR ROYCE, Sioux, Vt.

despair in this utterance. "A weak candidate, with no Hanna to help, can carry none of them."

There can be no doubt that the paper's diagnosis of the situation is correct. Nor can there be any doubt that its expressions voice the feeling of a great many of the wisest and most astute Republican leaders.

The Democratic opportunity is here. All that is necessary is to follow the dictates of wisdom, patriotism and common sense, and the House of Representatives and the Presidency will come under the control of the Democratic party again on the Fourth of March, 1905.

Free Alcohol for Arts and Mechanics.

The manufacturers of Newark who use alcohol in their business are greatly interested in the bill introduced by Congressman Boutelle on January 8th, known as H. B. 9302, which provides that "distilled spirits of an alcoholic strength of not less than 160 per cent proof * * * when rendered unfit for drinking purposes, be removed from distillery warehouses free of tax * * * provided that sulphuric ether, wood alcohol, methylic alcohol, wood naphtha or other substances * * * shall be mixed with such spirits so as to render the same unfit for drinking purposes or for use as a beverage."

Sections 2, 3 and 4 of this bill provides for certain other regulations and prescribes penalties for a violation of the act.

The result aimed at by the Boutelle bill is to remove the tax from alcohol which is used in the mechanical sciences or the arts.

The use of alcohol in the industrial arts is only limited by its cost. It is extensively used by all manufacturers of bicycles, boots, shoes, coffins, cabinet work, street cars, railroad cars, organs, pianos, picture frames, perfumery and in every place that varnish is an element in the manufacture of products.

It will be seen that the B. & O. shops, the Jewett car company and other industries in Newark will be directly interested in the passage of a bill making alcohol for these purposes free or at least reducing the $1.10 per gallon tax.

Mr. Edward Besuden of the Jewett Car company, has been active in this work to secure a favorable sentiment in this district, toward the Boutelle bill, which can be communicated to Congressman J. W. Cassingham, urging him to support the measure.

The Jewett company uses large quantities of alcohol and it is claimed that the high tax on it makes the price almost prohibitive. Mr. Besuden hopes that any one who is interested in this matter will take the trouble to write to Mr. Cassingham, urging him to support the bill.

DICK AS THE SUCCESSOR OF HANNA.

(Columbus, Ohio Dispatch.)

The decree of the Republican "machine" organization that the seat in the United States Senate made vacant by the death of Marcus Alonzo Hanna is to be occupied by Charles F. W. Dick has fallen like a wet blanket upon the people of the great and proud state of Ohio.

And it is no wonder that they are filled with dumb amazement to be surely followed by deep chagrin and indignation. Even if Mr. Dick stood worthily among his fellow Republicans of the state as a man of ability and real strength, the spectacle of his being designated for this high office without an opportunity for the people to be heard from, without a chance for them to consider the facts as to the merits or demerits of the man, is so strange and unusual as to require an explanation, for Ohio is a state having within her borders many sons who have fitness and ambition and lofty aspirations. But it must be written in truth and all fairness that Mr. Dick not only does not measure up to the standard of Ohio's senatorial stature, but falls grotesquely short.

It will be instructive to recite some recent history. The present legislature was instructed by enthusiastic direction of the people to choose Mr. Hanna as Ohio's senator, and is now suddenly called upon by the fateful lottery of death to choose his successor.

When the legislature was to be nominated in 1902, Mr. Dick had been forced to withdraw reluctantly from the Republican gubernatorial contest because the nomination of Myron T. Herrick had become assured. Dick was angry and bitter toward Senator Hanna. He was rebellious toward the Republican party. To his personal friends he openly denounced Senator Hanna for his failure to advance Dick's own political fortunes. He was resentful and dangerous, but he had been the party's chairman in the state for years. He could not be displaced at the head of the party organization except at some risk of disruption and disaster, and the Tom Johnson spectre was a menace then. So it came about that Senator Hanna permitted Dick to remain in his official position, and in the legislative canvasses, he as chairman gave financial and other help to candidates who are now members of the present general assembly. Though Dick was but the almoner, the campaign disbursements came as bounty from his hand and they made Dick strong with certain legislators in such matters as the lobby is advised of and in which it commonly intervenes. So it was that Dick announced later that he would organize the legislature that had been chosen in November and declared through the skillful press agents employed by him that the new governor was to go to Washington to confer with Senator Hanna and himself, and upon to write a letter of indignant protest to the New York Tribune, whose editor is Whitelaw Reid, a director of the association, and in the columns of that newspaper the letter appeared.

That this "conference" thereupon was to make the governor's appointments. Governor Herrick objected to this program and declined to assign the prerogatives of his office to any "conference" at Washington or elsewhere. He asserted his manhood, maintained his dignity and honor and rule by "conference" was perforce abandoned.

Then came the meeting of the legislature, the inauguration of the new governor and the re-election of Mr. Hanna to the United States Senate. With glorious vindication Mr. Hanna triumphantly returned to Washington with the eyes of the whole nation upon him the foremost figure in American politics, save the president alone.

Within a few days fatal illness seized upon Mr. Hanna. Among the people, among the great and varied business interests, among the solid citizenship of our state, the question of the succession in the event of Mr. Hanna's death was barely referred to. More than passing reference was deemed indelicate, an abominable departure from the proprieties, an unseemly and indefensible procedure, utterly discreditable to all concerned. But it was not so among what Mr. Dick is pleased to call the "organization," the machine politicians banded together for common advantage.

Even while his life hung in the balance and the great senator tossed in delirium that was to deliver him to death, the machinery of the conspirators was set in cruel motion. One Dick lieutenant, it is openly charged, was sent to Washington to interview Senator Foraker with a view to bring about "friendly" arrangements between Dick and Foraker, other Dick lieutenants were sent scurrying among members of the legislature, with the word to Dick's faithful retainers in every part of the state to wait with patience until the fleeting breath had left the dying man's body and until the bugle call for Dick should be sounded. "The King is dead: long live the King." Even before the solemn funeral rites had been performed, not in Cleveland, remember, but two days before at the national capital, the ghastly plans laid so cunningly in Dick's behalf began to manifest themselves. In Dick's own congressional district, on February 13th, one day after Mr. Hanna's death, a written "round robin" pledge to support Dick for the United States senate was secretly passed among members of the legislature and signatures were secured. The service of the Associated Press, which is intended to be a rigidly impartial news gathering agency, was prostituted to the cause of Dick and grossly misused to create public opinion in his favor and against Governor Herrick, and this work was done so shamelessly that a private citizen of Columbus felt called upon to write a letter of indignant protest to the New York Tribune, whose editor is Whitelaw Reid, a director of the association, and in the columns of that newspaper the letter appeared.

test to the New York Tribune, whose editor is Whitelaw Reid, a director of the association, and in the columns of that newspaper the letter appeared.

The intention of all this preconcerted effort was to produce the appearance of a fictitious public sentiment, of a pretended popular uprising, in favor of Dick as Mr. Hanna's successor and to mislead and to deceive Governor Herrick as to the real desire of the people of Ohio concerning himself.

From the first the conspirators had been quick to see that no man has grown so steadily in public esteem and favor in Ohio as has Myron T. Herrick. They had known from the beginning that while Herrick was Washington, the governor alone stood in the path of Dick's unwarranted ambition.

Oblivious of the plotters and indifferent to them, Governor Herrick was made the victim of their misrepresentation and the target of their shafts. His heart, torn and bleeding, his mind distracted by deep sorrow, his spirit crushed, it was inevitable that when appeals were made to Herrick's friendship and loyalty to Hanna, to his devotion to party and all this was seemingly supported by Republican "sentiment," as conveyed to the governor personally and through letters and telegrams, he should renounce his entirely honorable ambition to go at some time to the United States senate and should refuse to permit the use of his name. The conspirators had done their work fairly well. They had artfully secured the stimulation of a public desire for Dick for the senatorial succession. In the scant time given for determination it was not possible for the governor to ascertain its wholly fictitious character and its utter worthlessness as a true index to real public sentiment. Another day and Herrick would have heard, not from the office holders, the place hunters and the selfish beneficiaries of legislation. Another day and the people themselves would have made known their demands for Herrick for the senate—a demand that would have been real and honest and irresistible.

So Herrick stepped aside and the "machine" decree is that Dick is to become United States senator in place of Marcus Alonzo Hanna—Hanna, who towered over men like a giant, who stood for the business interests and was of the business interests of state and nation—Dick, a product of "machine" politics and a "machine" politician, merely this and nothing more.

Is Ohio to be turned away from great and able leadership to the cheap and vulgar rule of mere bosses?

Will the people tamely submit to this flagrant disregard for their vital interests and their supreme right to be heard upon the question as to who should represent them in the senate of the United States as a successor of Marcus Alonzo Hanna?

PROF. PATTY

Pleased Mt. Vernon People With His Lecture on Radium Last Saturday Evening.

The Mt. Vernon Republican-News says:

Prof. W. B. Patty gave a decidedly interesting lecture in the High school auditorium Saturday evening before a fair sized audience. The lecture was on "Wireless Telegraphy, Liquid Air and Radium." He gave a brief story of each of these great discoveries and also gave a number of experiments. While liquid air and wireless telegraphy have been treated upon in lectures before in this city, Prof. Patty made his talk on these interesting and gave some new demonstrations. The greatest interest was manifested in radium of which he carried $1,500 worth. The auditorium was darkened as much as possible and spotlights, each containing a minute particle of radium, were passed out among those in the audience. The radium had the appearance of small stars shooting from the black background. These particles were each of 350,000 activity, while that in tubes he held in his hand was of 1,500,000 activity. Prof. Patty is an entertaining speaker and throughout his address he gave little incidents of a humorous character, all bearing, however, on some detail upon which he was talking.

Prof. Patty speaks in Newark next Saturday night at Taylor Hall. The lecture is for the benefit of the Newark High school.

DR. H. RUSSELL BURNER

Former Newark Man Announces That he Has Bought a Vast Tract of Land in California Because it is Rich in Radium.

The following dispatch from Los Angeles, California, will be read with interest in Newark as it refers to Prof. H. Russell Burner, formerly of Newark, now president of the British Medical Institute company (Ltd.) and surgeon-in-charge of the San Diego British Medical Institute in California. The dispatch follows:

Although radium is said to be a very rare article, worth millions of dollars per pound, a San Diego man possesses—so he says—an ounce of the wonderful metal. This man is Dr. H. R. Burner, formerly of Newark, Ohio.

"Dr. Burner, after some months of investigation, has purchased 300,000 acres of land in Southern California and he now asserts that the reason for this extensive purchase is that the territory is rich in radium. He has promised to disclose within a few days, the exact location of immense beds of pitchblende, which he will soon begin to mine for purposes of obtaining radium.

"Dr. Burner announces as his belief that the wonderful climate of Southern California is due to the radio-activity of the quantities of radium hidden beneath the soil. He says that his discovery of the bodies of pitchblende was due to the presence, over the location, of hares thicker than anywhere else in the world, and of the presence of birds in such numbers that their flight is hampered because of numbers. These birds and animals, he asserts, flock there to get near the life giving metal, the influence of which is felt distinctly."

There is only about 2 1/2 ounces of radium in the entire world. It is the new discovery which has startled the scientific world. The lecture on radium, wireless telegraphy and liquid air at Taylor Hall next Saturday night, February 27, will be well illustrated and undoubtedly very interesting. The lecture is given under the auspices of the High School Library Association.

SCHOOL CODE QUESTION.

The Harrison Bill Will be Made Into a Law With Provisions for Big Cities to Adopt Such Plans As Suits Their Present Boards.

Columbus, O., Feb. 24.—The school code question is settled. Both the Cincinnati and the Cleveland plans will be adopted if that anomaly is possible. After a conference among the leaders it was decided that the Harrison bill shall pass both Houses, but not until certain amendments have been made that will make it acceptable to all parties.

First of all, it has been settled that the school elections shall be held in the fall, which will mean that all present boards of education will go out of existence at that time. In order to obviate any further juggling between the larger cities of the state as to the respective merits of the board, ward and federal plans of school government, the law will be so shaped that the present board of education in each city and town will decide which plan will have effect in its own community.

To make the matter plain, if Cleveland wants the federal plan, the present board of education there will so decide. Cleveland will then be divided into five districts, or made into one large district, as the case may be, and the members of the new board of education will then be elected from the one district.

In Cincinnati, where the board plan is in favor, the city will be divided into 25 districts, more or less, as may be determined at a later date, and the members of the new board will be elected as representatives of these districts, or, possibly, if the number of districts decided upon is less than the number indicated, a certain portion of the board may be elected at large as representatives of the whole city.

In smaller communities such as Hamilton, if the present board so decides, the members may be elected from the present wards, or the latter, if large enough, may be divided into districts, thereby securing an additional member.

In other words the present arrangement will not be seriously disturbed. Where the federal plan is much in favor the federal plan will continue, and where the board plan flourishes it will continue to flourish like a green bay tree.

INTOXICATED

MAN IN CHARGE OF CROSSING AT UNION STREET.

Fast Train Passed and Gates Were Not Lowered—Kinney Fined by the Mayor.

The only case in Mayor Crilly's court Wednesday morning was that of Mike Kinney, charged by B. & O. Officer Lawrence with drunkenness. He was fined $5 and costs which disposed of his case. But there were other developments that are more serious.

Kinney was a watchman at the Union street railroad crossing, for the past few days, taking the place of the regular man who was off duty. The testimony went to show that a B. & O. fast passenger train passed Union street crossing Tuesday evening, and the engineer noticed that the gates were not let down. He reported the matter at the depot, and Officer Lawrence was sent up to investigate. He found Kinney dead drunk, and in no condition to be on duty.

Mayor Crilly was very indignant that the railroad company should send such an irresponsible employee to watch at such a dangerous crossing as Union street, in view of the fact that the city pays half his salary. It has only been a couple of weeks since a little boy was killed at this crossing, where only the most faithful and trusted employees should be stationed.

NO RELATIVE

AND FEW FRIENDS TO MINISTER TO HIM.

Carl Rininsland Passes Away at 233 Jefferson Street—Relatives All Live in Europe.

A death occurred in this city in the West End, on Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, which, from some of the attending circumstances, was exceedingly sad.

The deceased was Carl Rininsland, a native of Germany, who had been in this country for twelve years. He died at his boarding house, 233 Jefferson street, in the West End, after an illness of only one week with pneumonia. He was all alone so far as relatives were concerned, as he had not a relative in this country. Three kind gentlemen, however, who knew him in Germany, ministered to his last wants. They were Messrs. W. J. Steinkemper, Louis Moulds and Antoine Oberfield.

The deceased leaves two nephews and two nieces, who are now residents of Germany. He was born in Germany October 30, 1861, and consequently was in the 40th year of his age. He was by occupation a stove mender, and had been out of Moser & Wehrle's most valued employees for the past 12 years. The funeral services will be held at McGonagle's undertaking parlors on West Main street, at 2 o'clock on Thursday afternoon. Rev. William A. Berger, pastor of the German Presbyterian church officiating, and the interment will be made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

The deceased was a young man of excellent character and fine ability, respected and beloved by all who knew him, and his death will be sincerely deplored.

ACADEMY

AT MARTINSBURG WHICH RECENTLY BURNED

Was For Years a Flourishing Institution—Many Well Known Men Were Educated There.

Many of the older readers of the Advocate heard with sincere regret of the destruction by fire of the old Martinsburg academy, a few days ago. This celebrated old institution of learning was situated in Martinsburg, Knox county, and was erected about 60 or 70 years ago. It was originally a three story frame structure, and for many years was one of the most flourishing and successful institutions of the kind in Ohio. It purposed to fit young men and young women to enter college, and its grade of scholarship was high and its work thorough.

Rev. Henry Hervey, father of the late Henry M. Hervey, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of this city of beloved memory, was for many years at the head of the Martinsburg academy, and it enjoyed its palmiest days under his able and judicious management.

Another son of Rev. Henry Hervey Sr., was the Rev. Dwight B. Hervey, who for several years, successfully conducted the Granville Female college, of Granville, O.

The old Martinsburg academy furnished valuable instruction, not only for the ambitious youth of Knox and adjoining counties, but for pupils from all over the state. Many young men availed themselves of the advantages of the classic old institution who afterwards became famous in the nation. Among the long list of such illustrious men may be mentioned General William S. Rosencranz, his brother, Bishop Rosencranz, Hon. Wm. Windom, afterwards secretary of the treasury, Hon. Columbus Delano, secretary of the interior under President Grant in 1870, and many others.

The old academy has gone up in flames and ashes—but its memory and its influence will never pass away, for it lives in the lives of thousands of its pupils.

PARISHONERS

Called at Home of Rev. J. W. Maxwell and Carried Gifts With Them—A Pleasant Evening.

One of those pleasant occasions that serve to break the monotony of life and bring out the cheerful and bright side of it, occurred on Tuesday night at the new residence of Rev. J. W. Maxwell, 79 North Williams street, when his parishioners filled his home to overflowing. They did not come empty handed, and as a result his purse and table were enriched to the value of many dollars. Mr. James Anderson, on behalf of the ladies of the congregation, in an appropriate speech presented Dr. Maxwell with an elegant arm chair. Mr. Maxwell responded in his usual happy manner. The evening was spent in a very happy manner by the rendition of a number of musical selections, readings and recitations. Prof. Sparks and his talking machine contributed much to the spice and interest of the evening's entertainment. Refreshments were served during the evening by Mrs. Maxwell and her sister, Mrs. Geraldine Abraham of Cincinnati. At a late hour all joined heartily in singing "Blest be the Tie that binds" and Dr. Maxwell led in prayer after which the happy assemblage broke up and all left for their several homes, well pleased with the evening's enjoyments.

AMUSEMENTS.

TOMORROW NIGHT.

"Roanoke," Hal Reid's beautiful story of old Virginia, will be given an elaborate scenic production at the Auditorium tomorrow night by Rogers comedians. The opening bill of three night of repertoire and specialties are introduced at all performances. The part of Aunt Dinah, the old negro mammy is a typical one, and in it Miss Leota Clyde Rogers is unequalled. One lady will be admitted free Thursday night with each paid 30 cent ticket and seats can now be secured at the Wiles-Erman drug store.

COLUMBUS OPERA.

There will be quite a number of music lovers of Newark avail themselves of the opportunity to hear grand opera by attending at least one of the performances at the Great Southern, Columbus, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evening, with a "Carmen" matinee on the latter day. "Othello" will be given Thursday, "Lohengrin" Friday, with "Bohemian Girl" as the attraction Saturday night.

The Newark patronage will be divided between the three operas, Lohengrin, and Carmen getting the lion's share, although several will attend the performance of the Verdi classic on Thursday. "Othello" was selected to open the opera festival as it is by long odds the heaviest in the repertoire, not even excepting the Wagner number.

A number of Wagner devotees were greatly disappointed in not being able to secure seats for Lohengrin, but others had foreseen this condition and had made arrangements to have some one on the ground at the time the seat sale opened. Monday by noon, every seat for Friday night had been sold.

THE W. C. T. U.

The devotional part of this meeting was led by Mrs. Teeter, who read the Scripture lesson from Matthew, 5th chapter. Love was the subject and a good meeting was enjoyed by all present. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Sisson, the vice president occupied the chair. A small amount of business was quickly disposed of, after which Mrs. Gabke, superintendent of Sunday School work, had charge.

A good program was carried out and those taking part were Mrs. Teeter on the "Timely Word," and Mrs. Patt, whose subject was "God's Way." Special mention should be made of the paper read by Mrs. Gabke on the depraved condition of the people in America and in Newark. Many boys and girls in this city never go to Sabbath school, and seem to have no desire whatever to do so. Many things are yet to be done by those who call themselves Christians. Christ invited the blind, and the lame and the halt to sup with Him and "whoever will may have and partake of the water of life freely." Then surely we ought to get busy and gather in the children. Next Sunday our Golden Text is "Be ye the doers of the word and not hearers only—heareth doeth." God is not a far Master, requiring impossibilities. "Wise man—built his house upon a rock," and that rock is Christ. A great many will not take time to dig down through the dirt and dust to the rock but build upon the surface, but it will not stand the upheaval of the last day. "The rain descended and great was the fall." All the man's labor was in vain because he was not on the rock.

If people would strive as hard to build on the rock as they do to build on the sand they would know what it is to be secure when the storm comes. On Christ, the solid rock, I stand. All other ground is sinking sand. Next Tuesday's meeting will be led by Mrs. Johnson. The meeting was closed by prayer by Mrs. Patt.

REPORTED DEAD

But is Living in Texas—An Unexpected Clue Develops to Missing Zanesville Man

Zanesville, O., Feb. 24—A startling story came to light in police circles which indicates that Joseph Douglas, a former resident of Zanesville, had adopted a novel and for a long time successful method of throwing detectives off his trail.

Chief Arter received a letter from W. J. Hall of El Paso, Texas, in which the writer asked for information about the property of Mrs. Joseph Douglas, who, the writer said, had died two years ago. Hall, it seems, was making the inquiry for Joseph Douglas, whom he said was living in El Paso. Douglas left Zanesville in 1877. Mrs. Douglas has thought her husband dead.

Mrs. Douglas said that her husband was sent to the Ohio penitentiary from Morgan county many years ago and that he had escaped from that institution and several months later the local bricklayers' union had received a letter saying that Douglas was dead.

BY AN EMINENT AUTHORITY

The eminent source from which the prescription for Father John's Medicine originated is a sufficient guarantee of its value. In the fifty years since it was prescribed for the late Rev. Father John O'Brien of Lowell, Mass., by whom it was recommended and from whom it derived its name, this old family remedy has never failed to do all that is claimed for it. It cures colds, grip, and all throat and lung troubles; builds up the body, prevents pneumonia and consumption. It is not a patent medicine, and we again call your attention to its freedom from poisonous stimulants, upon which the majority of patent medicines and so-called "cough cures" and "balsams" depend for their effect, and which are dangerous—we warn you against them.

BEREA

May be Consolidated With Antioch: if Certain Kentucky Legislation is Enacted.

Xenia, O., Feb. 24—A movement is on foot to consolidate Berea college, Kentucky, with Antioch college, located in Yellow Springs, O.

John Bryan, a wealthy farmer, living near Yellow Springs, having wide renown in the world, has offered to lend assistance to effecting the consolidation, and has been in consultation with President Frost of Berea, as well as President Hooper of Antioch.

The latter college was the first in America to admit both sexes and the first, except Oberlin, to admit all races on equal terms. Berea has always done the same thing, but the bill prohibiting this, passed by the House, is now up to the Senate of the Legislature, works a hardship on Berea, and a chance seems certain to be made.

The matter will be definitely settled by a meeting of the Antioch Board of Trustees.

TEMPTED

BY THE GLITTERING JEWELS MRS. FRENCH FELL.

Widow of Respectable Family Who Confesses the Crime Will Ask to be Forgiven.

New York, Feb. 24—"The glittering jewels tempted me. There was nobody looking and I handled them and fondled them till they fascinated me, the opals in particular. Call it a spell if you like. I never before did wrong, but I could not help taking them."

Haggard and worn Mrs. Agnes French, a nurse, made the above statement last evening as she was leaving Brooklyn for Washington under arrest charged with the theft of $100 and 10 pieces of jewelry, valued at $2,000 belonging to the wife of the postmaster general, Henry C. Payne.

According to the woman's own statement she is the widow of Albert French, whom she described as having been a wealthy resident of New York and a member of an old Philadelphia family. Arrested yesterday in Fulton street, Brooklyn, she spent all night in a cell, and was yesterday arraigned in the Adams street police court, and was taken in charge by the Federal authorities.

"I will be forgiven, surely," she said. "I will write to Mrs. Payne and apologize. When she knows my history and temptation she will forgive me."

She said she was born in Louisville, the daughter of a professional man, who died eight years ago. He had remarried after her mother's death and she entered a convent, and there received an education. When she left the convent she came to New York and married Albert French. It was a case of love at first sight, she said. But he died within two years, leaving her practically penniless. After a time she was forced to seek a means of livelihood, and she took up professional nursing.

All over New York City the woman wandered with the jewels concealed in the bosom of her dress, and there they were found when she was arrested, as well as $55 of the $100 she says she took from the postmaster general's wife.

WITHIN A WEEK

It is Expected the Wood Case Will Come Up in the Senate—Hanna's Interrupted Brief.

New York, February 24—A Washington dispatch to the Herald says: Most important in popular interest of the measures now pending in the Senate is the case of General Wood, which has been from time to time postponed for various reasons. It will now be brought up in secret session within a week and an early vote on confirmation taken.

A feature of the discussion will be the reading by Senator Scott of the late Senator Hanna's uncompleted brief in which his objections to the appointment are set forth. Mr. Hanna was at work on his speech against General Wood's confirmation when taken by his fatal illness. He had many affidavits which he had collected and which he intended to insert in his speech. These will also be read by Senator Scott.

Start of Japan's Navy

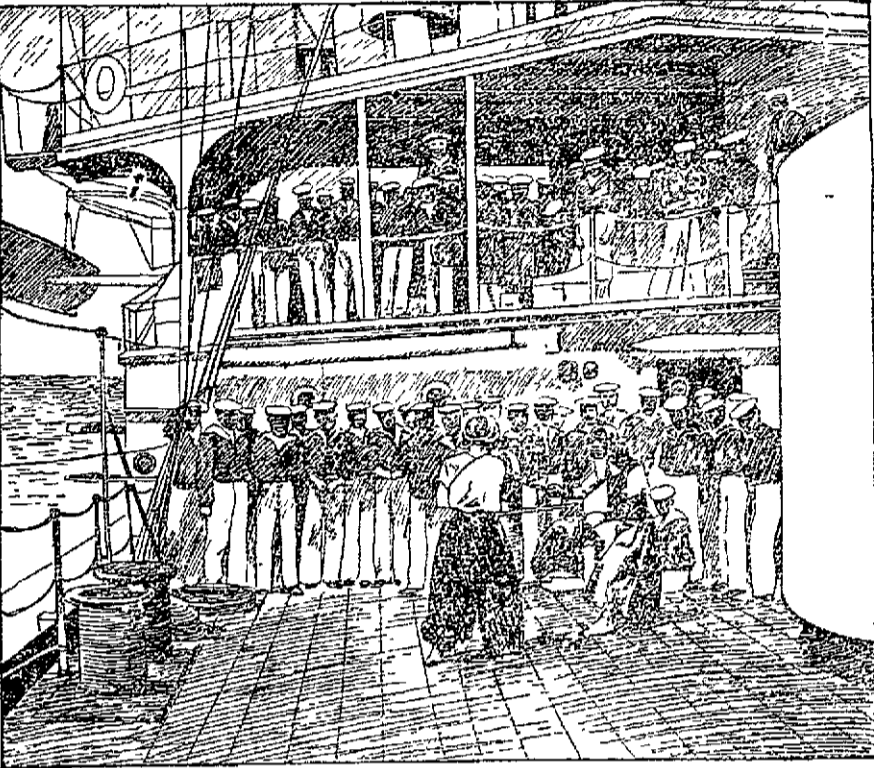

How American's Aided the Work.

Probably no officer of the American navy has followed the development of that of Japan with greater interest than Lieutenant Henry B. Rhoades, now on duty at the Brooklyn navy yard, for he was officially identified with the beginning of the navy of Japan as far back as 1868. A reporter of the New York Tribune called on him recently, and when asked if he was not one of the American navy officers who received appointments in 1868 to aid in the organization of the Japanese navy he replied:

"I believe that the credit for the Japanese navy may be placed to the American navy officers. It really began with the purchase of the armored ironclad Stone-wall Jackson (later named the Adzuma) from the United States government in 1866, although the construction of the naval dockyard at Yokosuka was commenced in 1865 under the supervision of a French engineer. This ral at a salary of 42,000 itzaboo (about $14,000 United States money) a year. His request was granted, and he accepted the appointment of Japan and remained for about three years.

"At the same time the American consul at Hilo, a German whose name has passed from me, was appointed chief constructor, and to me was offered the appointment of chief engineer. For specific reasons I declined the office, but did offer to accept service temporarily, and for two or three months I gave a group of young Japanese engineer aspirants such instructions as my time would permit in marine engineering and gave demonstrations on the Stone-wall, explaining to them the mechanism of the engineer's department and the operation of boilers, engines, etc., on a warship and the use of tools. I cannot claim to have done very much in this small way toward creating the navy of Japan, but

SWORD EXERCISE ON A JAPANESE WARSHIP.

The complete preparedness in every department of the Japanese navy has caused a revision of the opinion that the Japs' courage is commingled with shortsightedness. Japan's naval marksmanship has already been tested in the present war, and it is safe to assert that if by some unusual combination of circumstances the crews of two opposing vessels should be pitted against each other in a hand to hand fight the little "Yankoes of the East" would give a good account of themselves, for sword exercise is today as regularly practiced as in the days when "boarding" was inevitable in sea battles.

was not completed till 1879. It cost nearly $2,500,000. The Stone-wall Jackson was built in France under a contract with the Danish government and was to be known as the Sphinx, but as this was about the time of the closing of the Schleswig-Holstein war and there was delay in the completion of the vessel Denmark became lukewarm in carrying out the terms of the purchase, and the boat passed into the possession of the Confederates.

"She put to sea soon afterward, but owing to some derangement of the steering machinery she ran into Ferrol, Spain, for repairs in February, 1865, where were lying the American war vessels Niagara and Sacramento. The commander of the American vessels allowed the Stone-wall to escape, and she went to Lisbon and thence across the Atlantic to Havana. Here she lay until after the close of the civil war and was then given up by Spain to the United States. Later the Stone-wall was sold to Japan, and she was sent over there by the United States under command of Captain (now Rear Admiral) George Brown and delivered at Yokohama in the latter part of the spring of 1868.

"At this time I was an officer in the Asiatic squadron, and my ship had been for months at Hilo and Osaka, where had been the greatest activity in connection with the revolution resulting from the overthrow of the tycoonate, in which I and several other officers in command of armed squadrons took part in defending the American legation and other American interests at Hilo following the assault by Prince, or Daimio, Bozen's forces upon an assembly of foreign sailors who were quietly observing him and his retinue pass through the town.

"Another of our officers was H. Walton Grinnell, a lieutenant in the volunteer navy and a nephew, I believe, of Moses Grinnell. In March, 1868, Grinnell was commissioned an ensign in the regular service, but his commission did not reach him till late in May. He then declined to accept it and asked for an honorable discharge that he might accept an offer of the Japanese government of a commission as admiral Grinnell and the Hilo ex-consul gave most valuable services. They deserve the most credit for their work in Japan and in other countries, taking with them a number of bright young Japanese to study construction, armament and navigation and the general operation of a warship.

"It may be said, therefore, that the Japanese navy had its beginning in 1866 and under American instructors, and they have gone on steadily increasing their armored fleet in addition to building up an unarmored fleet, all armed with the best rifled guns. The first armored ship constructed for Japan was built on the Thames and was launched in 1871, about six years before our new navy was begun. She was the Foo-Soo and had a displacement of 2,713 tons. About the same time contracts were made in England for the two composite armor belted corvettes the Kon-Go and the Hi-Yei. Then in 1885 the Naniwa and the Takachiho, built by the Armstrongs in England, were launched. They were protected cruisers of 3,700 tons displacement and eighteen knots and were conspicuous in the Japan-China war.

"Japan's dockyards are credited with equipments equal to any in the world for construction and repairs."

A Philadelphia who has been in Korea, over which the Russians and Japs are at war, long enough to grow familiar with its customs says in the Philadelphia Record that one of the most unique and picturesque of them is the family hat that descends from father to eldest son. The hat, made from the hair of the family ancestors, is a priceless possession and so carefully handled that it never wears out.

It is said that the average Russian peasant has a vocabulary of only 110 words. However, a man deserves credit for having mastered even 110 Russian words.—Brooklyn Enterprise.

With Great Britain trying to steal Tibet, Japan trying to steal Korea, Russia trying to steal Manchuria, and Germany trying to steal anything that is not nailed down, China must feel like a minority stockholder in the United States Shipbuilding company.—Detroit Free Press.

PORT ARTHUR, RUSSIA'S GREAT STRONGHOLD IN CHINA.

The Japanese lately assert the fact that Russia holds Port Arthur. They capture it from the Chinese, but Russia compelled them to evacuate because she wanted it herself. It is well founded.

HURRYING OCEAN MAIL.

American Liners Beat the British Record With Our Letters.

Letters to Europe in the year 1904 probably will be better and more expeditiously handled than in any period since the United States has had a postoffice department. This is due largely to the recent change of the sailing day of the American line steamers from Wednesday morning to Saturday. These vessels formerly carried the Wednesday mails, which are now being carried by White Star vessels, and the change has enabled them to take charge of the end-of-the-week mail, which is very much the larger. How large it is may be judged from the fact that every week from 5,000 to 7,000 bags of mail leave New York for Europe, each bag containing from 4,000 to 5,000 letters and from 200 to 400 papers. During the Christmas rush, for example, the steamship Philadelphia carried 2,000 bags of mail matter on a single voyage.

Under the older arrangements the Saturday mail to Europe reached London too late for Saturday distribution, and, as there is no distribution of mails on Sunday in London, the American letters remained an entire day in the English postoffice before going onward toward their destination. The American line vessels, however, get the mail to London in time for Saturday distribution. This distribution is very much facilitated by the fact that the vessels carry an ocean branch of the United States postoffice. From the time a ship steams out of New York harbor until the mail bags are to be forwarded to the London office the postal clerks on board the ship are busily sorting and arranging letters.

The change in sailing time of the American line was made by arrangement with the United States postoffice officials, and aside from other facts it is interesting to note that it places a large amount of the United States foreign mail under the United States flag. Unlike the English government, Uncle Sam, however, has always had a way of choosing the most convenient and quickest vessels for forwarding his letters, and even now a letter posted in England must be marked "Via American packet" if the writer wishes it to take the first ship for America.

A Use For Muffs.

"What a pretty little dog!" "I'm glad you like him." "Where did you get him?" "Well, I don't mind telling you that I adopted him one evening last week. I was walking up North Pearl street with A. when the puppy came out of one of the hallways and ran toward us eager to play. She dared me to pick it up and take it home, and I would not be dared. I lifted the little love and placed him inside this big muff, and, feeling decidedly guilty, we both hurried uptown. When near Orange street we heard footsteps behind us and turned to see a man running toward us. Instinctively we grabbed our skirts and increased our speed, and I tell you we were greatly relieved when the man behind boarded a motor car, which proved to be the object of his hurry. I have grown attached to Fido, but I wouldn't want to go through that experience again for the whole world."

This was a conversation I overheard on a trolley car the other evening, which proves that other things besides dainty hands can be concealed in a muff.—Albany Journal.

Profits In Pecan Raising.

Some of the finest pecans in the world are said to be raised in Florida, where the industry is becoming important. A long time, eleven years, is required for a pecan grove to come to maturity, so that it requires patience to wait for the profits, but there are records of single trees yielding as much as $16 worth of nuts in a single season. In Jacksonville twenty-six trees lining an avenue yielded $90 pounds of nuts that sold for $160 in cash. And at the same time the trees adorned the avenue and added greatly to its attractiveness.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

Meat Eating and Appendicitis.

Recent investigations made by surgeons in the French army in all parts of the world demonstrate, to their satisfaction at least, that the prevalence of appendicitis is in exact proportion to the prevalence of meat eating. This may or may not be true, but a person who is suffering from appendicitis or any other disease will not lose anything by abstaining from the use of meat for a time and noticing the effect on his complaint. This much may be said even if vegetarianism is a delusion.—Chicago Chronicle.

Furs and the Throat.

Mme. Antoinette Sterling was a great advocate of fresh air. Not only did she regularly patronize the tops of buses, but even when in a cab she sat in the back seat and kept both windows open. Furthermore, she always declined to wear any fur or wrap round her neck and used to declare that people who coddled their throats often caught colds, but that she never did. A celebrated example like this is worth quoting since all the medical teaching is entirely in accord with her theory.—London Chronicle.

The Marconi Stamps.

The painter Michetti, who designed the new Italian postage stamps, devised an ingenious detail for the two centesimi stamps which are in honor of Marconi, a telegraph pole from which the wires hang down useless. All the stamps were made at the desire of the king, who had come to the conclusion that Italy's stamps were no better than those of France, England and Germany and did not reflect honor on a country known as the home of classical art.

SMASHING AN IDOL

By CYRUS DERICKSON

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McCarty

While visiting her aunt in the city in the late spring Miss Hattie Saunders, daughter of Farmer Saunders of Redfield county, attended the theater several times, and for a special reason she attended one particular play three different times. The special reason was because the hero captivated her heart within fifteen minutes after the curtain went up. In the four acts of the play he rescued his love, killed three men, rode a bucking broncho, got the best of a land shark and found a million dollars in gold in a cave. He was a man to do and to dare, and when he shouted "Zounds!" and "Sdeath!" whole tribes of hostile Indians had to flee before him.

While the country maiden fell in love with Colonel Bings and adored his heroism, she had to depart for home without having told him anything about it. Other girls who also loved and adored may have sent him notes and bouquets, but Hattie would have been frightened at the idea. She departed for home, hiding her feelings from everybody, and her brother Bill and her father's hired man never looked so common to her before. The idea of one of them pulling out a revolver and crying "Zounds!" seemed like the rankest burlesque to her.

HE DREW HIMSELF UP INTO AN APPLE TREE.

Providence brought them around in a queer way two months later—that is, it brought Colonel Bings, as he had been named on the programme, to the farm of Abel Saunders as a boarder. Farmer Saunders didn't hanker for boarders, and his wife agreed that it wouldn't be worth the bother, but Hattie settled it as soon as she set eyes on the stranger. Here was the hero of the play standing before her, hat in hand, and she would have given five years of her life rather than that he should go elsewhere. He was out for a fortnight's vacation and was willing to sleep on a straw bed and eat potatoes with the jackets on, and after a bit he was taken in. Hattie was a little disappointed that he didn't throw her father over the well curb and her brother Bill over the fence in the first fifteen minutes, but she was a girl of patience, and she gave him time. She also realized that it must be hard work on the voice and muscles for a man to be a hero all the time. He must have a day off now and then to recuperate.

Supper was the first meal Colonel Bings sat down to. He didn't have any eagle feathers in his hair or buckskin fringe on his jacket or trousers, and he didn't mince his food like a hero. On the contrary, as brother Bill took occasion to remark, he "just shovelled it in" and put the hired man to the blush. It was a disappointment, but Hattie was not discouraged. She sat down with her hero that evening to draw him out. He was ready to be drawn. He said he got a salary of $30 per week for playing the part of Colonel Bings, or would have had if the manager hadn't cut sticks and left him in the lurch. The girl had made up her mind that nothing less than $1,000 per week could command such talent as that and that hundred dollar bills were as common as matches to him, and he took something of a drop in her estimation.

In the play he had saved a sweet-faced heroine whose tears had captured Miss Hattie's sympathies at an early stage, although at the same time she had been made a little jealous by her being carried around in the hero's arms when she could just as well have walked. She was now to learn that the heroine was a woman of forty who had been married and divorced three or four times and whose sweet face was made so by grease and paint. The hero also further mentioned that the heroine's trunk was being held by her landlady for six weeks' board.

There was no posing on his part as he walked about under the apple trees. When he was bitten by a mosquito Hattie expected to hear him call out "Zounds!" or "Sdeath!" but he didn't. He called out "Thunder!" instead. When the hour grew late and bedtime came he didn't bend over her little brown hand and kick out one foot, as in the play, but bade her a brusque good night and said it looked as if there might be rain before morning.

The hero worshipping went to bed with a headache, and the more she thought things over the more disappointed she was. She almost cried over it, but after awhile she found several excuses for Colonel Bings. He was probably tired out, perhaps he had a headache, maybe the heroine had tried to borrow money of him. At any rate, she would not believe that he was only common clay till he had been further tried.

The next morning brought hope to her heart. He was heard shouting "Egad!" and "Thou varlet!" to himself in his room before breakfast, and his manners were courtly as he sat down to tackle the fried pork and hard boiled eggs. After the breakfast things had been cleared away the girl invited him to walk across the field to the gooseberry bushes with her, and it did her soul good to see him assume his heroic stride as he walked beside her. In her mind's eye she was picturing the scene where he slew three villains and cried "Ha, ha!" in triumph, when he suddenly sprang from her side and drew himself up into an apple tree. A yearling calf was coming across the field on a run, and the hero didn't mean to take any chances.

It took five minutes to assure him that he was in no danger and to coax him down, but the gooseberries were not yet at hand when a mother goose showed a disposition to attack him, and he climbed a fence and left poor Hattie to save her own life or perish by inches. The matter did not end there. He had almost recovered his equanimity and was seeking after a pose when a bumblebee bobbed up and did business. Colonel Bings was lifted a foot high, but instead of coming down to conquer or die he descended to utter half a dozen cuss words and reproved Hattie for the grin on her face.

Most girls would have made up their minds then and there that Colonel Bings was no hero, but Hattie Saunders did not want to do him injustice. She gave him more rope. That evening as she swung in her hammock she remarked that she had always thought she would make a great actress and asked him for an honest opinion.

"It's all bosh," he replied as he dodged a wandering horsefly seeking a night's lodging. "You haven't got the face or the form, and you'd make a dead failure of it in a week. Better stick right here till you can marry some lusty fellow."

Miss Hattie closed her eyes for a moment to blush, and when she opened them again her idol lay shattered on the grass. She had admired and worshipped and was ready to love, but the veneer had peeled off, and her mahogany hero was only plain pine. He remained ten or twelve days more, and there were days when he stretched out his arm and cried, "Back, you sons of Satan, or die!" But the girl could not recall her reverence and enthusiasm. When his fortnight was up he went, and Hattie queried of her father:

"Papa, do you think Colonel Bings is a hero?" "I guess he is," replied the old man. "He went away owing me for the last week's board."

A Jewish View of Inspiration.

The question of revelation is always involved in discussion concerning the contents of the Bible. The ambiguity of this term would be removed if the idea of the supernatural were detached from it. The old theology must certainly count with the indisputable fact that the personal characteristics, the temper and disposition and the variable range of intellectual culture and spiritual insight are the inseparable conditions controlling every manifestation of human intelligence. When it is conceded that the Bible speaks in the language of man the idea of a miraculous revelation is abandoned.

In the case of the Hebrew prophets the nature of the psychological process inciting their oracular messages is not difficult to understand. The intensity and clearness of their moral and religious convictions and the irresistible urgency to proclaim them they felt as an impelling force not their own, but coming from a higher source. Jeremiah and Ezekiel in a less enthusiastic state of mind acknowledge that the divine law is written upon the heart. In fact, every liberation of thought is a revelation. Spiritual experience can be nothing else than the best and noblest thoughts that the wise and good in every age have felt and taught.—Menorah.

Milespan Mendicants.

Here are some characteristic stories about Milespan mendicants: "Could you help a poor fellow today and the Lord save you?" said a beggar to a Dublin publican. "Get away!" cried the landlord. "I've had a dozen of your kind here today already." "Shure, and it's myself that sadly knows how the profession is overrun," replied the beggar.

Quite recently the following conversation was overheard between two old crones: "Good morra to ye, Mrs. Fogarty," said one. "Good morra, kindly, Judy," replied the other. "I hope I see you well this mornin'?" "Oh, very well, entirely! So, Mrs. Fogarty, you married yer daughter Kate. Did she get a good match?" "A splendid man, praise be to heaven! She got Blind Parry Driscoll on the Pake, that makes more money than any three beggars in Cork." "Ah, thin, but it's me that's glad to hear yer news! And did ye give her anything?" "Faix, I did, then! Didn't I give her the best side of Patrick street, which if well begged is worth seven and sixpence a week?" "Upon me word, but 'tis ye that was generous!" exclaimed the other.—London Family Herald.

Russia's Weak Railway

Said to be Mined in Many Places.

"Japan could seriously injure the Transsiberian railway in a very few hours," said Charles Kliene, an Englishman, twenty years in the Chinese customs service, who arrived at New York recently on the Ivernia of the Cunard line, says the New York Herald.

"From Port Arthur to Lake Baikal, somewhere in the neighborhood of 4,000 miles," continued Mr. Kliene, "the road is believed to be mined in various places. At a given signal, or what is easier, at a specified time, the road could be damaged and connection between Russia and the far east practically cut off."

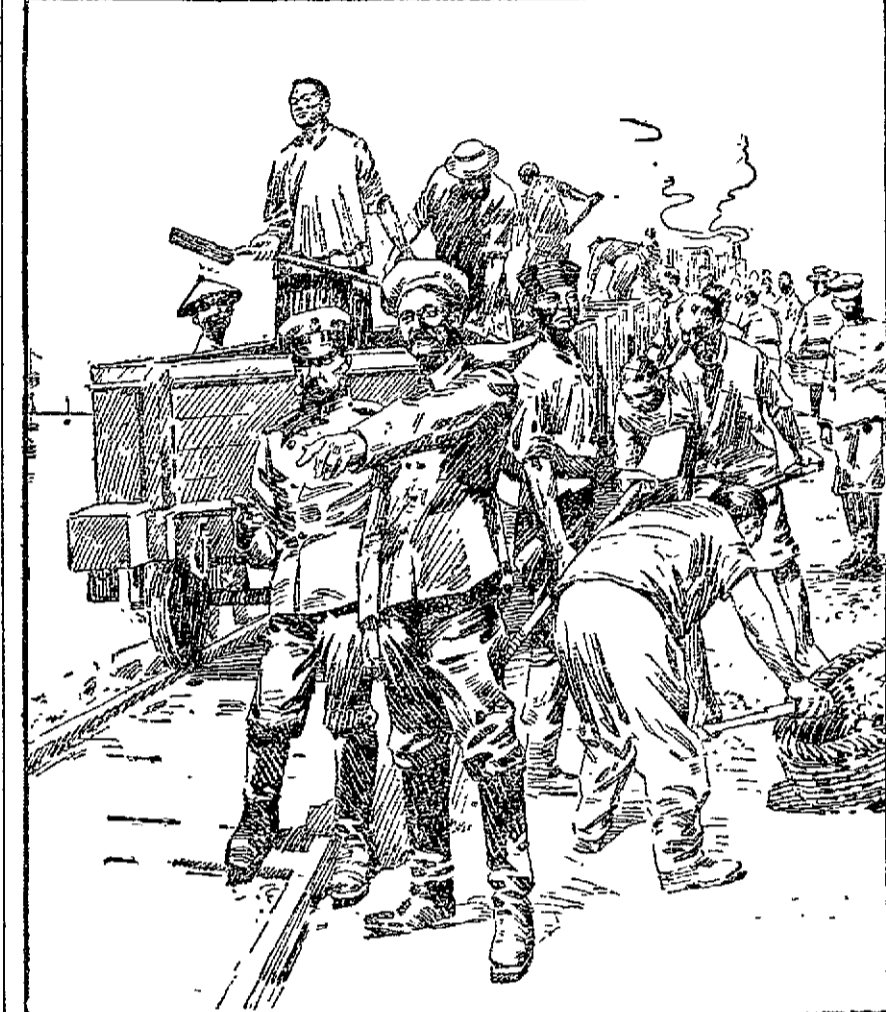

Mr. Kliene recently traveled over the Transsiberian route on his way to England. He is now on his way back to his post at Shanghai.

"Japan began to prepare for war long ago," continued Mr. Kliene. "For thorough sympathy with the Japanese. All ill feeling engendered by the Chino-Japanese war has died out, and Japanese spies will not lack support from the people among whom they work."

Japanese Women in War Times.

Japanese women who have received part of their education in the United States deplore the restraint under which their sisters are held at home, especially in these war times, says the New York Press. The wife of one of the wealthiest Japanese merchants in New York—she has been in that city eight years—said to a friend the day after the Russian fleet was attacked at Port Arthur: "The discussion or expression of an opinion by a woman on anything connected with the war would not be tolerated in Japan. Perhaps it would be more correct to say that not one woman in a thousand possesses any knowledge on the subject or, has the remotest

RUSSIANS REPAIRING DAMAGE DONE TO THE RAILROAD BY THE JAPANESE IN MANCHURIA.

Prior to the outbreak of the war the Japanese had stationed at various points along the Manchurian railway trusted bands of men charged with the duty of blowing up bridges, sections of the railway, etc. The news reports show that they have done their work well. The illustration shows Russian officers directing the work of repair on a section of railroad which has suffered at the hands of the Japs.

months spies have swarmed over Manchuria and eastern Siberia, getting information and making preparations. Everything that could be learned they have learned, and they are in a position to act. In every section gang of Chinese coolies along the railway there have been Japanese, who had no difficulty in disguising themselves, and they have quietly employed their spare time in distributing explosives along the track, ready to be set off at the proper time. Many of them had worked upon the line when it was building. Others were skilled engineers, who used their eyes and ears as well as their hands. The blowing up of the railroad bridge the other day is evidence of the truth of my assertion.

"Official corruption was responsible for the road being improperly constructed at the start. Instead of being a well built, safe and serviceable track from St. Petersburg to the far east, the greater part of the Transsiberian railway is a cheap and dangerous makeshift."

"The rails are light and the ties too far apart to bear heavy traffic. The former are twenty feet long and usually rest on three ties, one in the middle and one at each end. In laying the ties the workmen simply cut down trees as they went along, splitting the logs and laying the round side uppermost. The rails are insecurely fastened to the ties and to each other, not half the requisite number of rivets being used at the ends.

"To attempt to convey a large body of troops over the railway in a hurry would be attempting an impossibility. In the first place, the trains cannot consist of more than four or five cars, because of the character of the track. Then, partly for the same reason, a speed of much more than twenty miles an hour is not attainable. Likewise the transportation of heavy guns would be attended with vexatious delays.

The Chinese all along the road are in idea what it is about, but if that one dared to open her mouth she would be ostracized immediately. Our sex at home is not supposed to have an opinion on anything. I really was frightened six years ago when I heard your girls expressing themselves with the greatest freedom as to which side they believed to be right in the Spanish war. We would no more do that—if we could—than we would fly."

A RAMBLE IN RUSSIA.

Of the 37,000 inhabitants of Vladivostok 25,000 are Russian soldiers. There are also 3,000 Japanese residents.

According to the official returns, there were 275 sugar mills in operation in European Russia last year. The best crop of the country amounted to nearly 9,000,000 tons.

The governor general of Irkutsk wants a law restraining emigration of Jews to Siberian cities, on the ground that unless this is done they will soon own all the gold mines and have all the trade in their hands.

In case the head of a firm comes to Russia to do business without, however, establishing permanent offices, warehouses, etc., he is required to pay 150 rubles ($77.25); in case he is of Jewish origin 500 rubles ($257.50).

Nationality Washed Out.

A Russian sailor, a deserter from his ship, recently gave himself up to a crew of British seamen on the guano island of Leone, saying that he desired to renounce his allegiance to the czar and to become a subject of King Edward. The British sailors were puzzled how to naturalize the man, so they held a consultation on the subject. Finally, after the Russian had abjured his country, every British tar present threw a bucket of water over him, and thus his nationality was washed off.—Exchange.
